U. S. FEARFUL
OF COMMUNIST
GREECE AIMSGUERRILLA WARFARE
DARKENS BALKAN PROBLEM

Washington, Aug. 23 (AP)—The United States government is apprehensive, it was indicated tonight, that Communist-dominated guerrilla forces may try to seize control of the Greek government with foreign support.

Loy W. Henderson, director of the state department's office of Near Eastern affairs, spoke of that possibility in a radio broadcast even as the Greek coalition government fell in bitter dissension over plans to reshuffle key posts.

Before he went on the air: 1. Reporters were given to understand that there is some American optimism over the prospects of getting a new, more efficient Athens regime which can, with American help, speed restoration of Greek economy.

2. In a formal statement, the state department accused the Greeks' three northern neighbors—Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia—of supporting the guerrilla warfare in Greece, and repeated its contention that international action is necessary to maintain Balkan peace.

Henderson appeared on the NBC network's foreign policy broadcast—a regular Saturday night feature—with George C. McGhee, coordinator for the American Aid Program to Greece and Turkey which has been accelerated in recent weeks to meet the threatening crisis.

Although the broadcast obviously was prepared in advance of the Greek cabinet collapse, Henderson declared that formation of a clandestine "free" government "might be seized upon as a pretext by other countries to the guerrillas with some cover of legality."

Henderson said also that United Nations attempts to halt the civil strife have been "consistently obstructed by Russian veto."

"Drastic Action"

He made it plain that United States efforts to obtain international intervention have not ended and will be pressed next month before the United Nations general assembly where Russia cannot exercise its veto powers.

Henderson said that if "a serious situation develops in Greece before the general assembly meets, drastic action will be necessary."

The charges against the Greeks' Communist-dominated neighbors were leveled in a state department formal document bundling up reports of the United Nations group which earlier this year investigated allegations the northern Greek frontier had been violated by the three countries.

The statement said the UN documents clearly showed that "Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia have openly and defiantly rejected any cooperation" with the investigating group.

66,000 SAVINGS

San Diego, Calif., Aug. 23 (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Ingalls, 62, former Boston clubwoman convicted on a federal charge of slavery, paid in full today a $66,000 bill for Dora Jones' 40 years made service.

The $66,000 was set by Federal Judge Jacob Weinberger as restitution to the Negro maid whom Mrs. Ingalls was convicted of enslaving after a dramatic trial ending July 19.

British Cabinet To Decide On Curbing
Imports From U. S.

BY TOM WILLIAMS

London, Aug. 23 (AP)—The British cabinet was called today to meet Monday in its second "crisis" meeting in less than two weeks, perhaps to decide upon the cuts in food and other supplies the British people must endure in the current economic storm.

The call coincided with a warning from Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison, "general" of the British economic campaign, who declared in a nationwide broadcast that the British people were not working hard enough or fast enough to avert an economic collapse and must be prepared for a stream of drastic government orders under its recently granted emergency powers.

"Time is running against us, faster even than the drain of dollars," he said.

His speech punctuated a week of developments which included the British-American agreement in Washington to put a moratorium on the drain on Britain's $3,750,000,000 American loan by other nations converting sterling balances into dollars, and to "freeze" the $400,000,000 undrawn balance of the loan.

The British government announced that the step meant Britain would have to trim her U. S. purchases drastically to come within her dollar resources.

Other developments today in Britain's struggle to make ends meet in post-war international trade were these:

Burma joined other sections of the British empire in invoking currency controls to husband her foreign credits. Officials at Rangoon said no one would be permitted to take more than 270 rupees (about $80) out of the country.

British mine union officials met again to consider a government request for longer working hours. Three weeks of negotiation have failed to produce agreement on a government proposal to lengthen the working day by half an hour.

The government wants more coal to boost exports and bring in more foreign exchange.

19 More Killed In Britain Mine Blast

Annfield Plain, England, Aug. 23 (AP)—Nineteen Durham coal miners lost their lives today in Britain's second mine explosion in little over a week.

The blast occurred in the Morrison North mine shortly after midnight when 24 workers were in the explosion area. Five severely burned and injured survivors were brought out by rescue squads and the 19 bodies recovered.

Among the rescue teams were three who had been on duty most of the week at the William undersea pit at Whitehaven where 104 lives were lost in an explosion on the night of Aug. 15.

Police Chief Claude Renaud said the robbers had been identified as Ulysses Lauzon, 23, of Windsor, and Donald (Mickey) McDonald, 40, of Toronto.

They escaped Monday from the Kingston, Ont., penitentiary where they were serving long terms for crimes of violence.

"We think they are still hiding in Windsor," Chief asserted. He said it had been established that the pair walked three blocks after abandoning the car in which they fled the Royal Bank of Canada branch. Then they disappeared.

The car was found in the east central section of the city and officers for a time believed the bank robbers might have transferred to another automobile.

However, Chief Renaud apparently discounted this theory and ordered his men on a night-long search of homes in the area that proved futile.

Legionnaires from all of the 48 states will descend on the metropolis for their 29th annual convention, a four-day affair beginning Thursday that is expected to bring hundreds of thousands of visitors to already well-populated Manhattan.

The convention, of course, will have its serious business but the trek to New York also is deemed likely to provide opportunities for some good, clean, old-fashioned, unimpaired Legion fun.

Residents who remember the 1937 invasion are wondering if Gotham will get the same lively treatment again.

The convention opens at 11:30 a. m. (EST) Thursday with a Madison Square Garden session to be addressed by Mayor William O'Dwyer, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, James V. Forrestal, newly named Secretary of National Defense, and Field Marshall Viscount Harold Alexander, Governor General of Canada.

At the same session the Legion's Distinguished Service Medal will be presented to Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson of the U. S. supreme court and U. S. Sen. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania. Forty and Eight, the Legion's fun group, will stage its parade Thursday evening.

William S. Knudsen, former lieutenant general and war-time production chief, will receive the Distinguished Service Medal at the Friday session.

Milady Stops
Traffic With Long Skirts

BY MARTHA COLE

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 23 (AP)—With a band playing old-time songs and half its members dressed in grandmother's clothes, little below the knee club women stopped downtown Dallas traffic today with a parade proclaiming long skirts old-fashioned and impractical.

"Shall it be this?" and "Grandma wore this?" were the banners on early model cars filled with women dressed in the long skirt styles of the twenties and the thirties.

"Be sensible" and "be practical" were the placards on the snappy new convertibles filled with girls sitting on the back of the seats, legs crossed, dressed a little below the knee.

"Don't know what they're trying to do but guess it's a good idea" was a comment on the street.

"Shorter The Better"

Josiah D. Malcolmson, almost 75 and a veteran of the Spanish-American War with "a medal to prove it," knew. "The shorter the better," he declared.

Spectators leaned out of downtown office buildings, lined the sidewalks and pushed out into the street along the five-block route of the 20-minute parade.

They whistled at the girls in the convertibles and laughed at the old fashioned styles, especially at one husky man dressed in a long-skirted dress with elaborately padded hips. He wore a sign saying only "This?"

Plenty Of Support

"Pour it on," they yelled at three women in bathing suits on a truck, who got drenchings with pails of water from a barrel.

Mrs. Warren J. Woodward, the Dallas housewife who started the LFK club two weeks ago commented:

"I'm awfully worn out. 'We've got to keep this going to get anything done.'"

Almost 2,000 women have written her that they were in sympathy with her rebellion against fashion's decree of longer skirts for women.

NEW SAE HEAD

Mackinac Island, Mich., Aug. 23 (AP)—G. A. Ginter, Cincinnati, O., lawyer, was named president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon at the fraternity's 91st annual convention today.

On Saturday the Legionnaires will march up Fifth Avenue in their annual mammoth parade, a 12-hour spectacle, and at Sunday's final session delegates will adopt resolutions and elect a new national commander.

New York's hotels have set aside 15,000 rooms for the visitors and most of them also have made other preparations.

For instance, Donald M. Mumford, manager of the Pennsylvania, convention headquarters, has a memory extending back to 1937 and he explains that his hotel's lobby will be completely bare of couches, chairs and palms during the four days in case any motorcycles or horses wander in by mistake. He said:

"We're just removing impediments from the scene so they can enjoy themselves wholeheartedly."

EXODUS JEWS
BEING TAKEN TO GERMANYPALESTINE AGENCY
SEEKS TO STOP LANDING

BY ROBERT WEIL

London, Aug. 23 (AP)—Britain announced today that the 4,400 Jews of the Exodus were being taken to Germany where they presumably will be disembarked by force if necessary with the objective of returning them to France by rail.

But at the same time the Jewish agency of Palestine instituted habeas corpus proceedings against British officials on behalf of the refugees which agency officials said might prevent the Jews from being put ashore in Germany anywhere else outside British territory.

The Jews, balked in their attempt to run the immigration blockade of Palestine, were somewhere on the high seas on three British "cage" ships enroute to Gibraltar and Hamburg after staging a 24-day "sit down" strike in which they refused to go ashore on French soil and the French government refused to use force to make them disembark.

May Require Force

They have been afloat since July 11 when they sailed secretly from Sete, France, on the Exodus 1947, only to be intercepted by British destroyers and boarding parties and returned to Port de Boue, France.

Britain apparently decided to transfer the Jews to Hamburg, which is under her administration in Germany, so that if the Jews continued to refuse to land voluntarily they could be forcibly removed from the vessels. Upon sailing from Port de Boue yesterday, many of the Jews said they would not land except by force.

A British spokesman said the "Jews will not be allowed to remain on British ships" at Hamburg.

The foreign office announcement said the French had been asked to receive the Jews back into France by train from Germany because they had sailed from that country for the Holy Land last month.

"No Guarded Camps"

"His majesty's government are well aware of the part which humanitarian considerations have played in the decision of the French government not to cooperate in obliging the illegal immigrants to disembark at Port de Boue," said the British note in part.

"They feel confident that, basing themselves on the same considerations, the French government

NEW CONCEPT
IN DEFENSE'Security Zone' Drafted
At Inter-American Conference

Quitandinha, Brazil, Aug. 23 (AP)—A new concept, that of a Western hemisphere "security zone," was introduced into the drafting of the mutual defense treaty tonight at the Inter-American Defense conference.

The limits of the zone have not yet been defined, but delegates said it probably would include such outlying points as Hawaii and the Galapagos Islands.

The decision of a subsidiary group composed of Brazil, Mexico, Peru, Bolivia and the United States to specify a "security zone" in the treaty arose from the question put by Latin American delegates as to whether an attack on U. S. forces elsewhere in the world—in Greece, for example—would be considered aggression against an American state under terms of the pact.

The U. S. delegation assured the Latin American members of the conference sub-committee on aggression agreed that the treaty should state that the military units of all American nations agreeing to employ force against aggression in the hemisphere should fight under a single command in a unified army.

Argentina's delegation has proposed that the treaty apply only to cases of aggression from outside the American Republics.

Early Peace Treaty
Prospect Sends Nips
Into Arrogant Mood

(Editors' Note: Russell Brines, author of the following article on problems and prospects of a Japanese peace treaty, is chief of the Associated Press Bureau in Tokyo.

A longtime specialist in Japanese affairs, he was a correspondent in Tokyo before the war, and was interned by the Japanese in both Manila and Shanghai. Repatriated, he served as a war correspondent, covering at first the triumph of American swing back across the Pacific and the Japanese surrender two years ago.)

BY RUSSELL BRINES

Tokyo, Aug. 23 (AP)—The prospect of an early formal peace treaty has given all Japan a lift. Even some of the old-time arrogance has crept back.

This revival of spirits has come about since limited foreign trade has been approved, the United States has proposed preliminary peace talks, and the British nations have called their Canberra conference for two days hence to discuss a unified attitude towards Japan.

Customer resistance to Japanese goods, particularly in China and the Philippines, already has reached its head, and the attitude of Russia toward a peace remains an enigma.

The Japanese, however, are confident that, once placed relatively on their own, they can stage a comeback rapidly and with customary energy.

Need Supervision

They will need thorough supervision if postwar political and social reforms are to become permanent, but General MacArthur, supreme commander of the Allied occupation, has emphasized his belief that they are now ready for a formal treaty of peace.

She is not, however, ready for sudden removal of strict Allied supervision. Such supervision may be necessary for a full generation.

Some sober, thoughtful Japanese have themselves suggested that American troops remain in Japan or an indefinite period after a treaty is signed.

The main reason for wanting the Americans to stay on, however, is fear of Russia.

When a treaty is concluded, the first thing the Japanese see is a curve of Soviet power from the Kuriles on Japan's door, through Siberia to the 38th parallel in Korea.

For a long time the Japanese will regard American bases in the Pacific as their primary defense in a world which they are afraid is not yet ready for such idealism as their anti-war constitution.

Dorsey Swing Not Music; Fist Lands On Goodman's Chin

Hollywood, Aug. 23 (AP)—Movie-making in the land where the contract rules supreme went on seriously today in the studio where Claretist Benny Goodman and Trombonist Tommy Dorsey had a spat, with fist effects, yesterday.

After the row, in which publicists said Dorsey landed one or two on the Goodman nose and chin, Goodman went home but shooting continued on other scenes.

Studio spokesmen said the squabble arose when Goodman, arriving two hours late for the recording date, further aroused Dorsey by interpolating some hot licks which necessitated a remake, then hot words produced a Dorsey swing that wasn't music.

JIMMY LYNCH
ARE FEATUREDDIVE BOMBER CRASH
PRESENTED HERE
TODAY

Thrill Day will conclude the 1947 Upper Peninsula State Fair at the state fairgrounds in Escanaba today, with afternoon and evening performances by Jimmy Lynch and his Death Dodgers. The performances are scheduled for 2:30 and 8:30 p. m.

The Death Dodger show is making a repeat performance at the U. P. State Fair. The daring car drivers were featured on Thrill Day last year, playing to two capacity audiences. It is universally accepted as the leading daredevil automobile thrill show on the road.

The Death Dodgers will present many outstanding acts in precision and spectacular driving. The dive bomber crash, which features the show, is the most dangerous car driving stunt ever presented and it is the act in which Lucky Teefer was killed several years ago. In this thrilling act, a stock sedan is driven around the track at high speed, up a ramp in front of the grandstand, and 35 feet through the air, ending in a nose-dive into several cars placed in its path. The car is completely demolished but the driver escapes injury, if he's lucky.

Another thrilling act is performed by Tommy Coopwood, who will roll an automobile over and over while traveling at a speed of about 80 miles an hour.

The Death Dodger clown, led by Earl Shipley, also will be on hand to provide hearty laughs to the show.

All exhibits will be in place throughout the day and the Gem City Shows will be on the grounds with their rides and shows, including the famous Zucchini Human Bullet performance.

Attendance figures have been larger every day of the fair this year than in 1946. Secretary Harold Lindsay has reported, and the largest crowd of the week may result today if weather conditions are favorable.

Large crowds attended the WLS shows here yesterday afternoon and evening, including the heavy-weight horse pulling contest in front of the grandstand yesterday afternoon.

Hogs Die Of Heat At Fair In Iowa

Des Moines, Aug. 23 (AP)—The blistering heat caused the death of several hundred hogs on exhibit at the Iowa State Fair today and some owners of prize sheep were shearing their animals in an attempt to save them.

Owners began the shearing after some of the sheep collapsed but that the animals then had to be covered with blankets to prevent possible pneumonia. Regulations will prevent the sheared sheep from sharing in the prize money.

Livestock owners were using all sorts of methods to cool their animals including sprinkling cans and large fans.

VOTE TUESDAY FOR CONGRESS

Press And Station WDBC Will Broadcast Returns

After a quiet political campaign, the special congressional election to name a successor to the late Rep. Fred Bradley will be held in the 11th Michigan district on Tuesday. The candidates are: Charles E. Potter, Cheboygan Republican, and Harold D. Beaton, St. Ignace, Democrat.

Delta county polling places will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. A light vote is anticipated. The Escanaba Daily Press will join with the Sault Ste. Marie News, Cheboygan Tribune and Alpena News in collecting the returns of the 16 counties in the district. These returns will be furnished immediately to Station WDBC, which will broadcast until the outcome of Tuesday's balloting is no longer in doubt. It is expected that the radio station will make its first election news announcement about 8:30 p. m.

Welcome For Potter—Cheboygan—It will be the Fourth of July all over again on Monday night when this little town on the Straits of Mackinaw welcomes the return of its hometown hero. Charles E. Potter, on the eve of his bid in Tuesday's special election for eleventh district congressman.

The colorful "welcome home" show will be featured by a parade of three bands and veterans' marching units. A personal appearance by Gov. Kim Sigler, and fireworks which will be climaxed by a large American flag and "Potter for Congress" spelled out in pyrotechnic display.

Coming back to Cheboygan county where he won 2,500 of a total 2,700-vote in the primary will be Potter, Republican nominee, his campaign in the vast district completed. Potter, legless wounded war veteran, estimated he had travelled 5,000 miles in his three trips throughout the district.

It is estimated that the cost of eliminating all the 227,000 railroad grade crossings in the United States would be about as much as the total investment in American railroads with the exception of rolling stock.

Delta Road Funds Low; May Cut Snow Removal

Snow plowing service on Delta county roads may have to be curtailed as much as one-half next winter because of an approaching critical shortage of funds, the road commission was advised yesterday by J. T. Sharpsteen, its superintendent-engineer.

In an effort to ward off such a situation the road commission, on motion of Commissioner Henry Wylie, voted to communicate with each of the 14 township supervisors to acquaint them with the commission's financial problem. In the same communication the township supervisors will be advised that a complete snow removal program can only be accomplished if the townships offer the commission financial assistance. The amount of assistance required will depend on the road mileage within the townships. The commission engineer estimated the cost to the townships for the winter would average about $50 per mile. If a township has 100 miles of roads to be plowed this coming winter, the township's share of the cost would be about $5,000.

In connection with the county road commission's financial problem, the commission has invited Harold Gutsanson of Ensign, chairman of the Delta county board of supervisors, and C. W. Stoll, chairman of the board's finance committee, to meet with it at 4 p. m. on Sept. 15. Discussion will center on possible measures to avoid a reduction in road commission services.

Sharpsteen reported to the road commission that the road commission's estimated cash balance at the first of the new year will be about $4,564. This will be at a time of the year when the winter snow removal program will be started. Last year snow removal cost the county $40,000. In a "bad" year this might double, Sharpsteen said. The financial picture presented to the road commission indicated that the cash deficiency of the commission by March 31, 1948, would be $40,890.

The commission was told by Sharpsteen that finances will not permit a full-scale snow plowing program this coming winter. He cited the need for maintaining payrolls and said employees could not be expected to "miss four or five paydays," and that personnel cannot further be reduced. The commission agreed that the only alternative is to cut the amount of mileage being plowed next winter unless the townships are prepared to aid the road commission by turning over some of their surplus funds.

Chairman Harry Greene of Garden pointed out the necessity for keeping open highways for milk routes, school buses, mail, and for general travel. Commissioner Hilding Norstrom of Gladstone concurred in the importance of requesting the townships to aid the county in meeting snow removal costs.

The commissioners studied a recent state law permitting township boards to vote surplus funds to the county road commission for road purposes. The motion to acquaint the township supervisors with the road commission's financial plight followed.

State Senator Joseph Cloon of Wakefield, a visitor in Escanaba and present at the meeting, said the situation in Delta county is similar to that in all Northern Michigan counties. As a member of the senate committee assisting in a study of Michigan highway needs, Cloon said that he is working toward an increase in the gasoline tax to aid counties with snow removal cost problems.

An increase of 2 cents (from the present 3 to a total of 5 cents) would provide an additional $85,000,000 in Michigan road funds, Cloon suggested that five or six million dollars of this be placed in a snow removal fund on which the counties might draw according to need.

Forest Service's Dioramas Feature Woods Management

Of major interest in the U. S. Forest Service's display in the lobby of the exhibition building is a diorama devoted to farm woodland management. It is a replica of a typical farm woodland of mixed wood species with woods work in progress, highlighted by a small animated figure of a man sawing a felled tree into log lengths.

The trees are marked with daubs of color to illustrate recommended steps in the development of the woodland. Diseased trees to be cut out first are marked with red; the undesired species, which should be removed next are indicated by white; crooked timber has blue daubs and the good trees which should be encouraged to develop are marked with green (a color that to the forester as well as the Irishman is the symbol of that which is best.)

The commission also renewed its contract with the state highway department for the maintenance of state trunklines in Delta county. The total contract price is $124,246, and includes $23,000 for permanent improvement of M-35 south of Perkins.

Last Day of Fair

TODAY is the last day of the Upper Peninsula State Fair, the final chance for fair patrons to see the exposition with its fine exhibits, educational and entertainment features.

To those who have not yet visited the 1947 U. P. State Fair, we sincerely recommend that they take advantage of this final chance to attend the fair. They will find all exhibits in place at least until nine p. m., when the majority of the displays are subject to release.

Many persons who have already attended the fair will want to come back today to visit some of the departments that they may have missed on their previous visit. Today is Thrill Day at the fair and the entertainment feature at the grandstands, both afternoon and evening, will be presented by Jimmy Lynch's Death Dodgers, the finest and most spectacular automobile thrill show in the nation.

Those who have attended the fair year after year acknowledge that the 1947 exposition is bigger and better than ever before.

Greenbelt Under Attack

THE complaint of Mayor George Bauer of Greenbelt, Md., a federally owned community, that the co-op monopoly of business enterprise in the city of 7,100 is detrimental to the best interests of the community, is readily understandable.

The crux of the Greenbelt complaint is not whether co-ops are good or bad. On the contrary, Mayor Bauer told a congressional committee Friday that he believes cooperatives are good, but a cooperative monopoly is no better than any other kind of monopoly. All monopolies are bad from the public standpoint. Without competition, there is inefficiency and high prices. That is as true with a co-op monopoly as it is with any other kind of business monopoly.

Greenbelt is a public housing project, the result of one of the new deal's experiments in socialism. Cooperatives are granted exclusive privilege to operate businesses in a half mile radius of the housing project. Free competitive private enterprise is prohibited from doing business in the community.

The mayor of Greenbelt, speaking for the city council which last fall voted for introduction of private business in the city, is not asking that cooperatives be barred from doing business in Greenbelt. He is asking only that the coops be deprived of their special privileges in the city and that the business possibilities in the community be opened to all in the traditional American way.

It is a fair and reasonable request. In fact, it is a shock to many Americans to learn that their government, which is supposed to protect public interest, has seen fit to create a monopolistic system in a federally-owned community. The idea of a federally-owned community is, in itself, repugnant to the American way of life, in which individual rights, home ownership and free enterprise are held in such high regard.

Housing and Industry

COMMUNITIES that are seeking new industries nowadays have to provide more than a factory site.

This has been the experience of Bedford, Ind., which had a promise from an industrial concern that it would locate its plant there if it could also obtain assurance that its key personnel would be properly housed. As a result, citizens of Bedford have organized a company to build a $180,000 apartment building, which will provide accommodations for 20 families.

F. H. A. loans will furnish $155,000 of the apartment building cost, and the other $25,000 is being raised by the sale of stock to Bedford people. Interesting sidelight of the deal is that the plumbers' union has urged its members to subscribe.

Adequate housing is the easy road to community expansion, nowadays. Some of Escanaba's industries would increase their personnel eventually if housing could be found for competent and capable help. Salesmen and representatives of other concerns would locate their families here, for Escanaba is an ideal location for coverage of the Upper Peninsula and northern Wisconsin territory.

The community that gets the most housing first will come out in front.

Charter for Trade

A CHARTER for international trade, designed to reduce trade barriers between countries, has been adopted by delegates of 17 nations in Geneva, Switzerland. Further conferences to implement the charter are planned in November at Havana, Cuba.

The charter of the international trade organization emphasizes the need for free trade throughout the world, opposed subsidies in principle and seeks to guarantee equal treatment in trade rights for all participating nations.

Just how effective the new trade organization will be will be determined by the test of time. Lobby groups in every country will provide terrific pressures against the international agreements. This was evidenced at the last session of the United States congress where the wool interests all but forced through a highly restrictive wool import measure, despite the fact that the trade conference was then in progress at Geneva and the objectives of the conference itself were projected by the United States government.

The trade charter does not provide for free trade in the sense of eliminating all tariffs but it does seek to reduce tariff preferences and trade encumbrances. If the program works out, it should be a powerful factor in providing access to the goods of the world to all peoples on a competitive basis, thereby lowering costs and prices.

Canada Wants Margarine

THE Canadian Medical Association Journal states, after a series of tests, that good margarine is superior to butter in economy and nutrition.

The manufacture and sale of margarine have been prohibited in Canada since long before the first world war. Recently a Canadian Senator introduced a bill to make margarine manufacture legal in the Dominion, but the Senate killed it.

There is no more argument about the food value of margarine—that point has been settled favorably beyond question. Canada is now alone among the nations in banning margarine production, indicating that the dairy interests there are still omnipotent.

Canadian dailies are taking up the fight for margarine, with a fair prospect of success. Butter retails for 55 cents a pound in Canada, sales tax included. Here it is around 79 cents a pound, plus tax. This indicates that the Canadian powers that be are looking out for the interest of their consumers to a far greater extent than is done here.

Farm interests in the U. S. are doing themselves a great disservice in the long run by boosting the price of butter sky high. Butter is one of the primary food articles, and when its price gets out of hand there are apt to be roars of protest. More and more families, regardless of their economic condition, are buying margarine and finding it a very good spread for bread. Many thousands will continue to use margarine when the present bulge is over.

Other Editorial Comments

YOUNGER AMERICA (Chicago Daily News)

The Census Bureau's estimate of the population of the United States as of July 1, 1947, shows that from April 1, 1940, the number of Americans increased by 9,559,418. This gain in seven years and three months was greater than the increase of 8,894,229 in the 10 years between 1930 and 1940.

Census Bureau estimates are conservative and rarely if ever exceed the results disclosed by the later counts. Evidently the "population factor" of all our financial, industrial and political planning has been radically changed.

This is plain when the nature of the unusual increase is noted. It is nearly all due to a tremendous rise of the birth rate during the war. The new population consists mostly of babies. The age ratios of the American people have been radically altered.

America has been rejuvenated now and for years to come.

A large share of the war and postwar births represent new marriages—new families.

Millions of more homes will have to be built. More elementary schools must be built for the added millions of youngsters coming of school age now and for the next six years.

In general, population has been crowding to the Pacific Coast and the Southwest with a strong back swing into some highly industrialized states like Michigan and Ohio. Illinois with a gain of only 121,212 lagged in the national parade.

JUSTICE COURTS (Menominee Herald-Leader)

The office of justice of the peace is held in general legal regard as archaic. The Prosecuting Attorneys Association of Michigan favored replacement of the state's justice of the peace courts with a system of modern courts and a bill to accomplish this aim was introduced in the last session of the Michigan legislature, but when 60 justices of the peace appeared in Lansing to protest it the bill died in committee, although it had the support of the State Bar of Michigan. Last month the prosecuting attorneys, meeting on Mackinac Island, unanimously resolved in favor of replacing justice of the peace courts in country districts with modern courts. Eventually the reform will prevail. Public understanding of the benefits to the public of qualified courts would help speed the change.

Philadelphia? What is the difference between "crayfish" and "crawfish"?—M. P. D.

Answer: There is no difference. Crayfish, pronounced KRAY-fish, is preferred in England. Crawfish, pronounced KRAW-fish, prevails in American usage. Crayfish, the older spelling, is actually a corruption of the Middle English crevice, from the Old French crevice, from the Old High German crebiz, "a crab."

Cleveland: I know that "she" is a feminine pronoun. A member of our club insists that "she" can be used as a noun. Could that be right?—Mrs. L. C. W.

World Events Analyzed

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN

Washington (NEA)—When the nation's school bells begin ringing this fall the so-called crisis in American education automatically becomes at least 9 per cent worse than it was when schools closed for the summer.

This is because the first babies born in the U. S. war-birth boom have now reached school age, according to the U. S. Office of Education. It is estimated that first-grade enrollments will be 9 per cent more than normal, and will continue to increase for at least the next six years as a result of the boom.

This raises the question of how long a critical situation can be dignified with the title of "crisis" before it becomes simply chronic. Among themselves educators have been calling what is wrong with the American schools a "crisis" for the last 10 or 15 years. So during the past year when the public finally got let in on it, a lot of the education leaders were able to say pontifically, "Well, we told you so."

During the years through which they have nursed their crisis in relative obscurity, the leaders in the field of education have come to agree on a prime cause, and also the cure. The most important cause of U. S. schools' ills, they say, is low teachers' salaries, although in trying to prove their point they have almost gotten more interested in the intriguing statistics of the thing than the problem itself. And the cure, they have come to agree upon more recently, is some sort of federal help.

—CONGRESS LOOKED READY—
At the start of the 80th Congress it looked like something constructive might be done. The public seemed to be sufficiently aroused to support anything which would bail the nation's schools out of their trouble. Senator Taft, the new Senate spark plug, promised that he would do everything he could to get something done. And the education leaders apparently were ready to do their part.

But what happened? Even before hearings on any bills started, it became apparent that, although there was unanimous agreement among educators on federal aid as the remedy, there was no agreement on just what form this federal aid to schools should take.

The first struggle arose between parochial and private school leaders on the one hand, who think that they should get a share of any federal funds that are made available. And the opponents to this idea—led by the National Education Association—think that only public, tax-supported schools should get help. This wasn't a new issue. The National Education Association has always steadfastly refused to give an inch on their stand on this question. The sniping which went on irritated congressmen who wanted to help the schools.

Then, it developed, there was no agreement over how much money to ask for in the way of federal aid. Senator Taft's bill only called for $150,000,000. The National Education Association decided to go along with him. But a lot of support went to a bill offered by Sen. George Aiken of Vermont to provide $400,000,000 the first year and up to more than a billion later. This fumbling around also diluted the main effort.

—FEDERAL CONTROL OF SCHOOLS—
When the congressional hearings on the subject finally got started, it was discovered that although most educators agree that federal aid could be had without dangerous federal control of the schools, they had neglected to sell a lot of congressmen and state governors on this idea. Today the issue of federal control of schools seems to be the biggest stumbling block to passage of a federal aid bill.

On the brighter side, however, it is pointed out that the Senate committee has given a favorable report on the Taft bill. In the House, the hearings are complete and there is some indication that a favorable report might be in the offing when the second session of the 80th starts.

While the main remedy for the crisis is being bootlegged around, however, the states have taken it upon themselves to raise teachers an average of $400 a year throughout the country. But even so, the education leaders aren't sure this is all to the good. They are worried lest it will encourage the great number of unqualified teachers to stay in their jobs.

Meanwhile, what about Johnny, who is trying to learn his ABC's?

others list "she" also as a noun. Shakespeare wrote: "The fair, the chaste, and unexpressive she." Also: "Lady, you are the cruellest she alive."

Los Angeles: I find that most people, including bankers and brokers, accent "amortization" on the "am" syllable. Does that make the dictionary pronunciation wrong?—B. D.

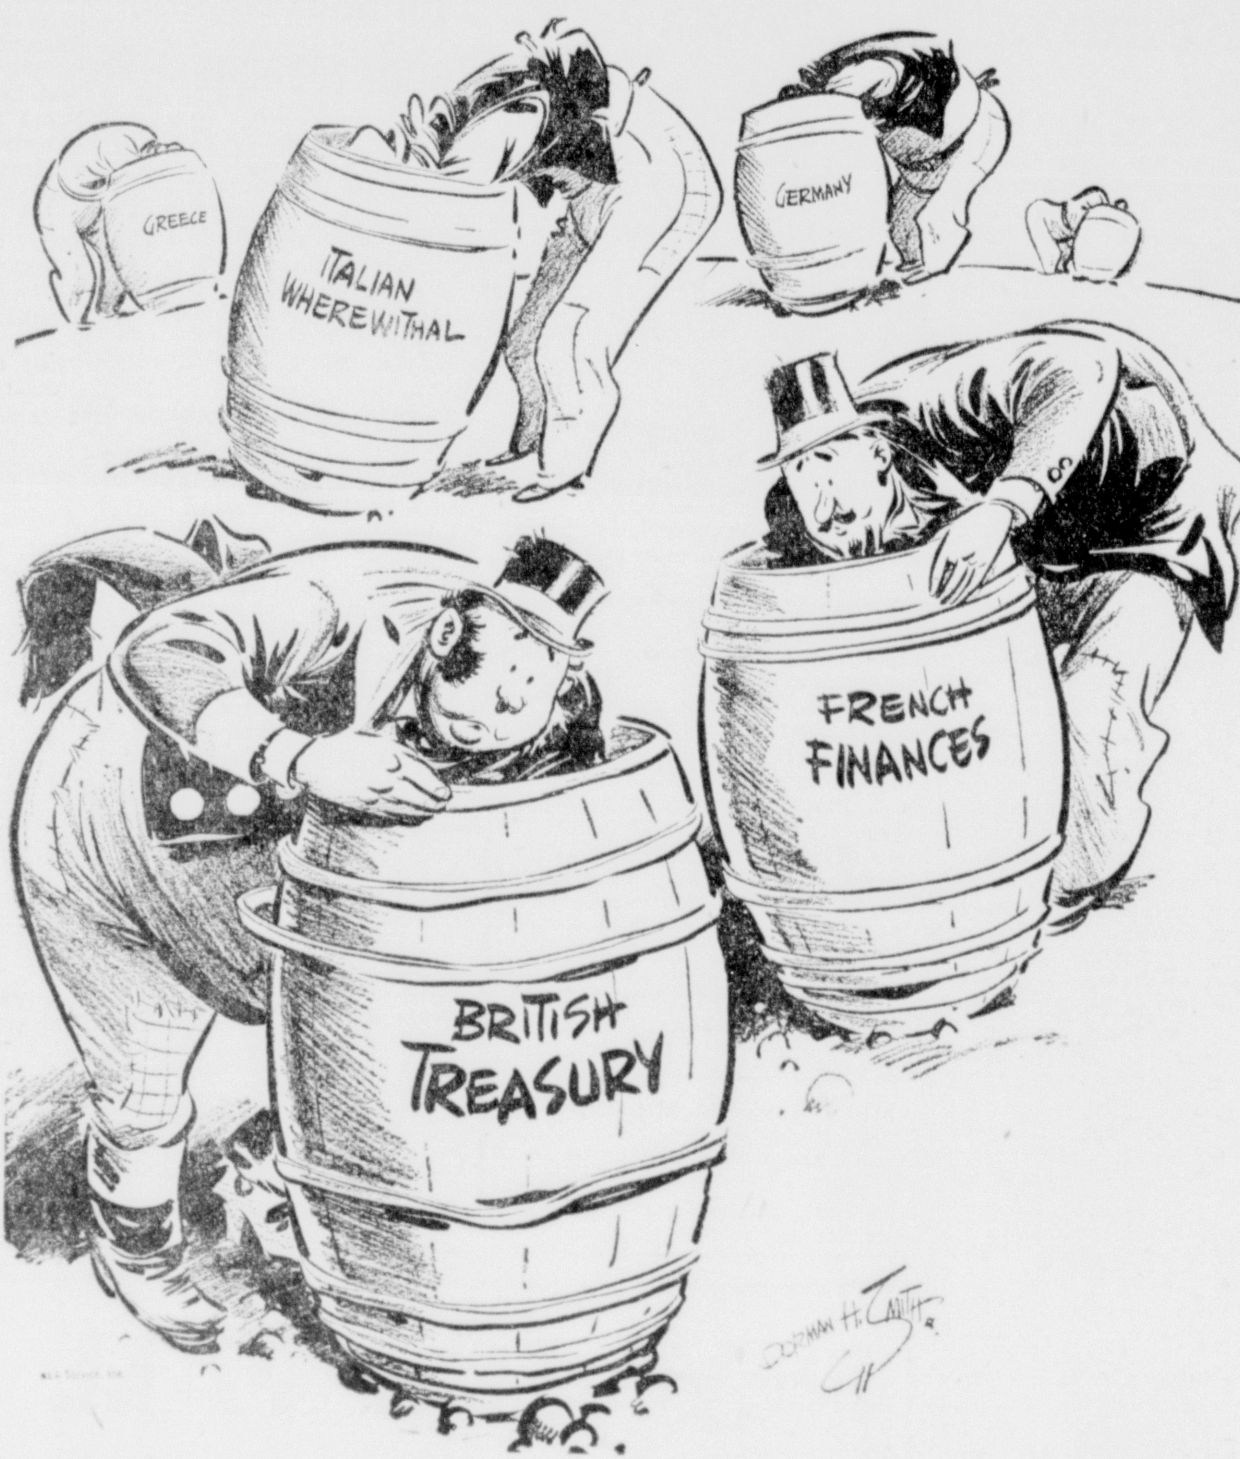

Answer: Dictionaries do not make pronunciations—their function is to report, not dictate. With one exception, the dictionaries of my library show amortization as: uh-MAWR-ti-ZAY-shun. However, as you state, most Americans say: AM-er-ti-ZAY-shun, which is the first choice of Kenyon & Knott's Pronouncing Dictionary. Later editions of the other dictionaries will doubtless give sanction to AM-er-ti-ZAY-shun.

St. Paul: A high school girl corrected me for pronouncing "chiroprapist" as ky-ROP-uh-dist. She insists it should be "shir-OP-uh-dist." Isn't it about time you took a hand?—G. C.

Answer: Yes; and the "hand" is the Greek word for chi—pronounced KY-roo. Your pronunciation ky-ROP-uh-dist is correct. Chiroprapist is formed from the Greek chiro, "hand," plus podos, "foot," for, originally, chiroprapists treated both the hands and the feet. The title chiroprapist is giving way to the more accurate podiatrist, "one who treats disorders of the foot," pronounced: pod-DY-uh-trist.

Scrape Out the Barrel, We'll Have a Barrel of Woe

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

CLEAN WATERS—The Michigan Stream Control Commission hearing in Escanaba Thursday directed attention to a vital public problem and a shameful condition that has grown out of a slovenly past and is being corrected only by threats of legal action.

The condition is not peculiar to certain cities of the Upper Peninsula, or of Michigan. It is America's shame that its people should be so oblivious to its sanitation problems.

Once sparkling clear waters have been befouled with filth, pure lakes and rivers whose waters were safe for drinking are now cesspools for sewage. The nation that found a continent in pristine purity has befouled it with its own dirt.

There is no greater crime against public health, against the common good and public interest than to dump raw sewage into public waters.

—VICIOUS CIRCLE—Untreated sewage is filled with pathogenic organisms that are a threat to public health. When this filth is collected from an entire city and dumped into streams, rivers and lakes year after year for half a century or more there develops a condition that is widespread in its danger to the people.

The majority of the cities in Northern Michigan take their drinking water supply from surface waters—streams, lakes, rivers. Originally this was a safe supply. Contamination made it necessary to filter and chlorinate the water to make it safe for human use. It is vicious circle when cities dump their dirt into clean waters, and then have to artificially clean those waters so the water may be fit for drinking.

The beginning of the circle is untreated sewage. Until that is corrected the condition becomes more acute with each passing year.

WHAT IT MEANS—At the risk of being called indelicate, we offer the following for your consideration. A city and its people constitute a large family. We will say that the house of that family is located on the shore of a lake. The people in that house drink the water of that lake, bathe in it, boat on it, fish in it.

All of the members of that family use a common toilet that drains into the lake. Into the lake also goes dish water, scrub water, in that family may be suffering from disease whose germs stay alive for a long time in water.

After a few years a noticeable change occurs in the waters of the lake. They become cloudy, scummy, dirty. The water stinks, the shore is filthy, the fish die. And most serious of all, the people sicken and die from drinking the water that they themselves have befouled.

THE FIRST STEP—Representatives of the five Upper Peninsula cities who were called before the Stream Control Commission for hearing on their failure to treat their sewage and make it harmless were unanimous in one thing. They all told the commission that their "first problem" was to provide safe water for their people. They did not realize that the "first problem" was to end water contam-

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Milwaukee—Delegates to the second annual convention of the United Automobile Workers of America leaped to their feet in a wild demonstration and banner-waving parade that lasted for 53 minutes today when Homer Martin of Detroit, national president of the union, entered the convention hall.

Lansing—The state liquor control commission and the state police investigated charges today that certain specially designated distributors and politicians were involved in a plot to attempt to bribe state officials.

Quebec—Tourist Gilbert Goff of Owasco, Mich., climbed the historic towers on the upper town cliffs today, and saw a sight that left him speechless. Goff got to one of the towers' barred windows just in time to see his motor car go tumbling down the 150-foot cliff into a lower town street. The brakes had slipped.

Twenty Years Ago
George E. Harvey, Delta county clerk, was elected secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula State Fair, by the board of directors, in session here yesterday. Mr. Harvey's application was one of about twenty considered for the position. Only three names, however, were recorded in a preliminary ballot and on the final and official ballot.

Gladstone—The work of installing a six-inch cast iron water main starting about 130 feet from the Fourth ward voting booth, connecting with the hydrant now in front of the booth and extending about 390 feet south on the east side of Sixteenth street to connect with the now existing two inch main, has been completed by the city crew.

Uncontaminated water existed before men befouled it. Only by ending contamination can a supply of safe water be maintained or restored. There is no other way.

Several of the cities reported to the commission that they planned to build new water supply plants, with higher filtration plants, more modern devices for straining the filth out of the water so it could be used for drinking. None of them said they thought they should build sewage treatment plants first and end contamination before it reached the water.

PUBLIC CESSPOOLS—Many places where the public might be expected to enjoy for recreation have become so contaminated they are now condemned. Closing a beach, a stream or a lake to the public with large signs telling the world that the water is unfit for swimming is a drastic measure. Menominee's beach was so posted until the city built a sewage disposal plant. The shore of Lake Michigan at Manistique has been condemned by the stream control commission and is posted at this time.

Near Negaunee is a beautiful lake—Goose Lake. Its waters were clear and fishing was good there. Now it is described by Milton Adams, executive secretary of the commission, as a "cesspool" and Michael F. DeFaut, Negaunee city attorney and former member of the conservation commission, says he would not eat the fish caught there. An outlet of Goose Lake, incidentally, feeds into the Escanaba river.

CLEANING UP—Every community not now adequately treating its sewage will be compelled to do so, Adams says. If the people of a community only realized the far-reaching value of such fundamental sanitation they would insist on its being done quickly before irreparable damage results.

Escanaba has sewage treatment now. Before it built a modern plant, however, raw sewage drained into the bay. There were scores of typhoid cases annually. And over a period of years the filth deposited along the shore of the bay provided fertilizer that produced a rank growth of reeds and cat-tails. The value of the property in that area was reduced and the shore spoiled—perhaps permanently.

The question is not whether a community can afford sewage treatment, but whether it can afford not to be without it.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN

(EDITOR'S NOTE—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by his old partner, Robert S. Allen.)

Washington — The U. S. Bureau of Mines will shortly issue a report on the July 24 mine disaster at West Frankford, Ill., that will leave John L. Lewis dangling on one of the shakiest limbs of his turbulent career.

Twenty-seven coal miners were killed in this tragedy, caused by a gas explosion. Howard Lewis, brother of John L., is superintendent of this mine. John L. was in nearby Indianapolis when the disaster occurred, and rushed to West Frankford where he immediately went into a huddle with his brother and United Mine Worker and state officials.

But, despite Lewis' searing denunciation of the earlier Centralia, Ill., mine disaster as "mass murder," he was strangely placatory concerning this one.

Out of the huddle came a public pronouncement that the tragedy was "an act of God."

UMW moguls and state officials went to great lengths to whitewash the disaster. Chairman Harold Walker of the Illinois State Mining Board proclaimed that "nothing could have prevented the explosion." Hugh White, Illinois UMW president and a top Lewis lieutenant, orated, "there will always be a few explosions that could not be prevented. You can't legislate mine safety."

The Bureau of Mines' report will tell an entirely different story.

It will declare the disaster could have been averted had adequate safety measures been taken. Also, that not only was the mine too gas-laden, but that "non-permissible" equipment, such as inferior (spark-throwing) drills were used in defiance of federal mine safety standards. Further, that "fire-bossing" inspections were wholly inadequate.

NOTE: Two highly pertinent facts the report will not go into are: That the unsafe conditions that led to the explosion still largely prevail in the mine since its reopening; and that under both the new UMW contract with the coal operators and the Taft-Hartley law, Lewis could close down the mine because it is unsafe. The Taft-Hartley act specifically authorizes the union to pull its members out of a mine on that ground.

—LOVE FEAST—

President Truman's bestowal of the medal of merit on White House Secretary David K. Niles was a two-fold sentimental event. Niles is the last of the Roosevelt staff still on the White House payroll, and the decorating ceremony afforded the genial bachelor the opportunity to do some free-handed kissing.

At the president's invitation, a number of women were present. Among them were Civil Service Commissioner Frances Perkins, former secretary of labor; Freda Kirchway, publisher of the Nation; Mrs. Francis Kelley, one-time WPA official; Mrs. Helen Alman, Census Bureau personnel director; Mrs. J. C. Capt, wife of the Census Bureau director, and Mrs. David Bazelon, wife of the Alien Property Custodian.

After the president pinned the decoration on Niles, to the great amusement of the former, Niles started bustling the assembled ladies. There was much hilarity, but none of the ladies refused. Afterward Niles explained, "This is what you might call reverse French. The French always kiss the recipient of a decoration, so I gave the practice a new twist."

—LEGION BATTLE—

The American Legion convention opening in New York today will see a hot behind-the-scenes battle over the veteran housing issue.

The Legion's Housing committee is very much on the spot with the rank-and-file. The committee is charged with being dominated by real estate interests, and failing to procure G. I. housing legislation from Congress.

This rank-and-file resentment has already manifested itself in a series of angry state crackdowns. It is unknown outside of Legion circles, but six state organizations rejected the committee's recommendations and endorsed the Taft-Ellender-Wagner Housing bill, which was vigorously opposed last Congress both by the committee and the real estate lobby. The revolting states were New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Maryland, Pennsylvania and South Carolina.

In Pennsylvania, the Legionnaires thumbed their noses at the committee, despite pleas by National Commander Paul Griffiths and Senator Edward Martin. The fight was led by Walter Alessandroni, executive director of the Philadelphia Housing Authority.

—INTERESTING OMISSION—

The congressional directory, with self-penned biographical sketches of members of Congress, is published twice yearly. The latest issue contains a very interesting omission.

In the January, 1947, edition, Nebraska's Senator Kenneth S. Wherry detailed at length his numerous business and professional activities. Among these was the fact that he is the only undertaker in Congress and that he had been "a licensed embalmer and funeral director for 20 years in Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa and Missouri."

Following the publication of this information, Wherry was subjected to derisive potshots by various commentators, colleagues and, particularly, Democratic critics. The latter irreverently took to referring to him as the "Merry Mortician."

The latest edition of the Congressional Directory gives these elements no further cause for derision. Wherry deleted all mention of his undertaking interests.

When his wife learns to read him like a book, the wise man turns over a new leaf.

You'd think some people took lessons running amuck instead of an auto.

Don't flare up if you want to shine with your friends.

HORSE PULLING RECORD BROKEN

Heavyweight Mark Here
Pushed Up To 3550
Pounds

A new Upper Peninsula record in the heavyweight horse pulling contest was established here yesterday at the U. P. State Fair, two Wisconsin teams pulling a 3550 pound load the required distance of 27½ feet.

In the runoff a team owned by Archie Bergsbaken of Shiocton, Wisconsin won the championship, worth $90, plus an extra $25 award for breaking the existing record. Bergsbaken's team pulled a 3650 pound load 15 feet, 10 inches while a team owned by C. Hermitage of Seymour, Wisconsin, which also had set a 3350 pound record, placed second, pulling the 3650 load 15 feet, 9 inches. Thus, the difference of only one inch meant $40 in extra money to the Shiocton team.

First in the Upper Peninsula class was a team owned and driven by Art Hamel, of Champion, which pulled a 3200 pound load the full distance and dragged a 3550 pound load 15 feet, 10 inches. Hamel placed fourth in the open class.

The heavyweight contest was witnessed by a large crowd of fans, estimated at approximately 3,000.

The results of the contest follow:

Open Division

Archie Bergsbaken, Shiocton, Wis., first; C. Hermitage, Seymour, Wis., second; Chris Roepke, Seymour, Wis., third; Art Hamel, Champion, fourth; Clement Zinder, Nadeau, fifth; Leo Loomis, Shepherd, sixth; Maurice Barclay, Seymour, Wis., seventh; George Izzard, St. Ignace, eighth; LaPine and Son, Michigamme, ninth; Ted Tourangeau, Cornell, tenth. Contestants failing to place in the money were Jake Naylor, Wilson; A. Wender and Son, Iron Mountain; Ray Benzie, Norway.

Upper Peninsula Division

Art Hamel, Champion, first; Clement Zinder, Nadeau, second; George Izzard, St. Ignace, third; LaPine & Son, Michigamme, fourth; Ted Tourangeau, Cornell, fifth; Jake Naylor, Wilson, sixth.

The contest was conducted on the tractive dynamometer provided by Michigan State College.

The new record is 50 pounds greater than the previous record of 3500 pounds in the Upper Peninsula. A new record of 3200 pounds also was established here yesterday in the lightweight division.

Coplan piloted a Corsair Navy fighter plane in the search, and he and other pilots of his squadron sighted some of the wreckage and radioed its position to a destroyer.

In a letter to his mother, the young officer described the search as the most thorough and systematic in his experience. Lt. ## WE'RE TIRED OF HIGH PRICES! —WE'RE VOTING FOR BEATON FOR CONGRESSMAN

Harold D. Beaton will work to undo the economic havoc created by our present Congress, which has allowed the cost of living to go skyrocketing... It will be his primary aim to work for legislation that will bring the American dollar bill back to a point where it will buy a full dollar's worth.

A Detroit newspaper in a recent editorial states "the present Republican Congress is held responsible for the fallacy that removing controls would stimulate production and bring prices down. The Republicans were wrong and President Truman was right. He valiantly held the line until 1946, when Congress failed to act and the balloon went up."

Harold D. Beaton's record has been outstanding... He was twice elected Prosecuting Attorney of Mackinac County... While with General MacArthur's forces in the southwest Pacific, his counter-espionage work saved thousands of American lives... As a highlight of his work with the Department of Justice, he obtained a conviction in the Hemans Case—ending that phase of corruption in Michigan politics!

BEATON SPEAKS HERE SATURDAY

Veteran Declares U. P.
Lifelines In Resort, Fishing Trades

Harold D. Beaton, Democratic candidate for Congress today stated that "not enough careful consideration is being given by Michigan Congressmen to the two major industries of our northern counties—namely, the fishing and resort trades."

Beaton attacked his Republican opponent for appealing to the voters upon emotional factors and upon stock political statements which are "vague, general and unrealistic." Beaton argued that "there are vital problems affecting the welfare of residents of this district and these problems should be thoroughly discussed by candidates for the high office of Congressman."

"The fishing trade of Northern Michigan, a basic national resource, is being destroyed rapidly by the menace of sea lampreys and by a thoughtless disregard in Lansing and Washington for adequate control measures. Unless strong action is taken very shortly, we may awaken one day to the fact that one of our major industries is gone forever."

Beaton continued by stating that the great resort areas of this district need strong support in Washington for federal aid in the construction of new highways, financial relief in tax legislation for resort investments, greater aid in the conservation of our natural timberlands, and a more sane and sensible legislative program for streams and navigable waters.

Beaton concluded with a reminder that his long association with Northern Michigan has qualified him well to work in Congress for this region's major industries. A lifelong resident of the Eleventh district, Beaton has been a lumber worker, teacher, and lawyer. Twice prosecutor of Mackinac county, he later became a prosecutor in the criminal division of the Department of Justice and a Military Intelligence Agent in the U. S. Army in the Pacific. His campaign slogan has been "A veteran who is really qualified."

Beaton addressed a luncheon group at Hotel Sherman, Saturday noon and spoke at Ludington hotel to township persons Saturday night.

Soldier-Weary Germans Prefer To Adopt Girls

Berlin — (AP) — Relatively few Berliners are willing to adopt male children since the war and psychologists think it may be because nobody in this battered land is anxious to raise a boy who may grow up to become a soldier. Nearly 80 percent of applications for adopting children which come to Berlin's head youth office specify that girls are wanted.

The youth office received 252 applications for adoption during the last half-year and was able to place 114 children in homes after investigation of applicants' circumstances and backgrounds.

But the rate of applications has fallen off substantially since last winter.

Berlin has 21,000 children who are charges of the government—7,000 in orphanages and 14,000 in the care of private families. The guardians, about a third of whom live in rural regions, receive pay from the government for each child.

Youth officials who investigate applicants for adoption and guardianship make a major point of checking whether there is any intent of "speculation on the child"—just trying to get another food ration card for the home.

Sunday's "picture of the day" in the art department is a lovely oil still life, winner of third in the sweepstakes. It is the work of Mrs. Chas. Begole of Marquette, who recently studied with Farnsworth, one of the foremost present day American painters. Mrs. Begole also has entered an interesting still life of flowers that was a prize winner, and a portrait of a young girl.

Two colorful oil abstracts displayed on a short wall in the art department that attracted considerable attention were not entered in competition as they are the work of the department judge, Mrs. Emil Kronquist of Negaunee.

Demonstration artists yesterday at the fair included Mrs. James Bell, Escanaba, who painted a still life in oil with objects in the antique display as her subject; Mrs. I. F. ## Auto Accidents Over Friday Night Total 7; One Hit and Run Seven accidents have piled up on the Escanaba police docket since late Friday night. None of them have been very devastating, one, however was a hit and run affair.

In the 100 block of North 19th street, Gunnar Hornblad, 204 North 20th street, hit a car belonging to William Ranguette which was parked in front of the Henry Ranguette residence. Hornblad was traveling north on North 19th street.

A hit and run driver was involved in damage to a car belonging to Casper Duzek, Gladstone, and parked in the 1500 block of Sheridan road. The car was hit at night, by a car turning south on Sheridan road from 16th avenue north.

At 3:15 a. m., Saturday, William F. Anderson, 525 North 19th street, jumped a curb while traveling south on Washington avenue and knocked a city light pole down. Electricians were called out to repair the damage immediately. Anderson was ticketed by the police for reckless driving and will appear before the police Monday at four o'clock.

Mrs. Albert Valind, 1222 South Eighth avenue, turned sharply to go north on South Ninth street from third avenue Friday night in order to avoid an accident. Mrs. Valind ran up on the curb and hit a brake light. C. Gunderson, 619 South Ninth street, who was traveling north on South Ninth street and turning on Third avenue south missed the Valind car. The Gunderson car was damaged a little.

Out at Willow Creek road, John Lueneburg, 318 South 16th street, collided with a city truck driven by Joseph Holmes. Bushes in the vicinity obstructed the view of both drivers. Lueneburg was driving for Escanaba Taxi company.

While making a U turn to park in front of his business, Frank Gauthier, 1837 North Third, collided with a car driven by George DeGrave, 2310 North Fifth avenue. DeGrave was traveling west on third avenue and Gauthier was

State Fair Sidelights

Each day's attendance at the U. P. State Fair this year has been heavier than the corresponding date a year ago, as measured by paid admissions to the grandstand and the main gate. This was also going west on the avenue. Earlier in the day, Harry Keelne of Lansing, reported to police someone had parked next to him in the 800 block of Ludington street and damaged the fender of his new automobile. A ticket was placed on the offending auto and Alta Harrison, Grand Rapids, appeared at the station later to make rectifications.

true even on Thursday, Escanaba day, which last year brought out a capacity crowd for the night show. They squeezed in a few extras in the evening and the afternoon crowd was ahead of Escanaba day last year. Last year the fair board played the Jimmy Lynch show on a percentage but they have booked the thrill show on a flat guarantee this time. If the weather holds out, the gamble will pay off with a bigger take for the fair.

There was one department at the fair that was very weak this year—the swine department. Not a single porker was on exhibit. The boys in the livestock department said that it reflected the fact that the Upper Peninsula is not corn country. Maybe so, but there are a few pigs on almost every farm. The prize money seemed to be adequate enough to bring out some porkers, but perhaps the farm boys figured that at the current price of pork chops it would be better to move the hogs to market before the price dropped.

The fair board has lived up to its promise to offer the best entertainment in the country at the lowest possible prices. Eighty cents for the kind of show that was presented the first four nights—50c at general admission rates—provided a bargain, indeed. The concession boys at the grandstand, however, brought a sour reaction by jumping the price of soft drinks from a dime to 15c after the second day.

STATEMENT BY REPUBLICAN COUNTY COMMITTEE

To Voters of Delta County:

The Beaton for Congress Committee are holding themselves out as Non-Partisan and they have issued a form letter in which it is stated that, "We are patterning the campaign for Harold Beaton along the lines of the Jackson campaign: etc." This is propaganda put out to mislead the voters of Delta county. The office of Circuit Judge for which Mr. Jackson was a candidate is Non-Partisan under the law, but the office of congressman is a purely political office, and is not and cannot be Non-Partisan under the law or in fact. Mr. Beaton is a Partisan candidate on the Democratic ticket and doesn't claim to be anything else. The issues involved are too vital to let this pass without calling attention to it. The New Dealers are after votes and are trying to lull the voters into believing that the office for Congressman at this time is Non-Partisan, when they know that it is not

The Republican County Committee is solidly behind Charles E. Potter of Cheboygan, Michigan for Congressman of this District. He is a candidate on the Republican ticket and should be elected for the good of all voters and tax payers of the District. If you want relief from high taxes and oppressive measures, you will vote the Republican ticket.

CONGRESS GETS ECONOMY IDEAS

Terminal Leave Money Vets Awhile May Have To Last

Washington, (NEA.)—Veterans who are set to rush to the bank Sept. 2 the first day they can cash in their terminal leave bonds, better think twice unless they have an immediate and desperate need for the money.

That's the last new cash benefit Congress is likely to hand to veterans for a long time, experts of the national veterans' organizations believe. They based their views on an analysis of the veterans' legislation passed by the 80th Congress.

Congress—due mostly to the influence of its members who are World War II veterans themselves—appears convinced that the U. S. Government has now done just about enough for its fighting sons and daughters. Proof is that the 79th Congress appropriated more than $10,000,000,000 for veterans benefits while the 80th gave only $5,000,000 worth of new benefits to them—to increase payments to disabled veterans taking vocational training.

Enabling vets to cash terminal leave bonds didn't require a new appropriation. The money was already there. It is now believed that the chances of a bonus law being passed much before 1960 are pretty slim.

If a veteran is convinced he wants to pass up the two-and-one-half per cent interest he will get for five years on his terminal leave bonds, it is a simple matter to cash the bonds. The veteran whose name appears on the bond must cash it in person at any bank and he must have his discharge papers or a certified photostatic copy to show to the clerk. If a veteran had sent his bonds to Veterans Administration for payment of insurance premiums, he may write and ask that the unused part of the bond be returned in cash.

In addition to Congressional tightening of the purse strings for veterans, the Presidential proclamation which went into effect July 25, declaring the official end of the war for certain purposes, now establishes a definite termination date for most of the GI Bill of Rights benefits.

After July 25, 1949, the $20-a-week readjustment allowance will no longer be paid. Any veteran planning to go to school under the GI Bill must now start his course before July 25, 1951, and have completed it by July 25, 1956. And any former GI desiring a guaranteed loan must get it approved before July 25, 1957.

The Presidential proclamation does not affect the reemployment rights of veterans. These rights are a permanent part of the law now.

Veterans who are excepted from the termination dates are those who entered service under the voluntary enlistment law which went into effect Oct. 6, 1945 and lasted for a year. These vets get all the benefits they earned by service regardless of termination dates.

Several minor veterans bills were also passed by the 80th Congress. One legalizes a procedure used by VA which permits farm workers taking on-the-job training to get full subsistence allowances even though they aren't taking all the classroom courses usually required. Another extends the period of term insurance for World War I veterans. And another new law makes it mandatory for the Government to rehire a veteran let out by reduction-in-force, if the Civil Service Commission overrules the agency which fired him.

The prime goal of the veterans organizations for the next Congress is to get the subsistence allowances raised for former GIs now attending school, and they believe they stand a fair chance. Several veterans groups hope to get an effective housing law on the books. They feel that since 1948 is a Presidential election year, Congress might give a more sympathetic ear to their requests.

No reply had been received from the French government late today, but in Paris a French foreign office spokesman said the matter was possibly still under consideration.

It Shouldn't Have Cost Him A Dime!

Clinton, Ia., Aug. 23 (P)—Annoyance at a soap opera program was the reason given in municipal court today by Extra E. Adams for his behavior which Police Chief Herman Thomsen says included:

1. Ramming his fist completely through the family radio.
2. Taking a hammer to really finish the job.
3. Throwing eggs at random around the one-room trailer in which the Adams family resides.

His antics cost him a $10 fine when he was arraigned in court this morning on a charge of disturbing the peace.

In pleading guilty Adams explained to Judge W. A. McCullough that he works nights, sleeps during the day and the offending radio is located only five feet from his bed.

Argentina To Fine Industries Below Par; Bonus Others

Buenos Aires, Aug. 23 (P)—President Juan D. Peron announced in a broadcast "fireside chat" tonight that the Argentine government planned to fine industries whose production drops and use the proceeds from the fines to reward workers whose production is greater than normal.

He said factory managers would be required to report to the government on production, the number of workers employed and absenteeism. Management and employees will be permitted to explain any production drops before the fines are levied, he said.

National Guards To Begin 61-Day Recruiting Drive

See Possibility Of Heat Relief Monday

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A germ of hope that the Midwest's current six-day heat siege might be broken by Monday or Tuesday was held out Saturday by federal forecasters.

The weather men emphasized that it was only a "possibility," but stated that a slow-moving Canadian cold front over the northern Rockies Saturday night might dip south to Montana and North Dakota Sunday.

New Low Death Rate Predicted

New York, (SS)—A new and unprecedentedly low death rate for the year, 1947, is predicted by statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company here.

The prediction is based on records of the company's industrial policyholders, but can be taken as an indication of mortality experience for the nation as a whole.

For the first six months of the current year the death rate was 7.6 per 1,000 policyholders. This is 3.8 per cent below that for the corresponding period last year and is identical with the previous low mortality registered in the first half of 1942, exclusive of deaths from enemy action.

A new minimum death rate has actually been established so far this year when allowance is made for the increase in average age of the insured in the past five years.

Rudy York's Hotel Room Burns Again

Chicago, Aug. 23 (P)—Fire tonight caused an estimated $250 damage in the Stevens hotel room of Rudy York, 34-year-old White Sox first baseman.

Truett Gore, assistant manager of the hotel, said York was not in his room at the time and that the fire apparently started from a lighted cigar left on the window sill. Drapes and part of the window sash in the 15th floor room were destroyed and some of York's clothing in an open trunk was charred.

York was overcome in a fire which broke out in a room in a Boston hotel where he was staying a year ago.

Hugh Crossen Wins U. S. Skeet Handicap

Vandalla, O. Aug. 23 (P)—He insists he's a better trout fisherman than he is a trapshooter—but 41-year-old Hugh Crossen, Gardiner, Mont., rancher, sporting goods dealer and tavern operator, today won the clay target sport's biggest prize, the 48th Grand American handicap.

The red-faced big-game hunter and all-around sportsman cracked 99 of the flying discs yesterday from 22 yards in a brisk wind, and then sat back to watch the rest of the two-day fight of 1,786 starters, biggest in history, try to match his feat.

They couldn't do it, although 15 wound up with scores of 98. So Crossen picked up prize checks adding up to around $5,000. He did it in his sixth attempt at the "Roaring Grand."

Three Brownie errors helped the Philadelphia club in their run-gathering, two of them accounting for the opening tally in the fourth frame. Sam Chapman went all the way to second when Paul Lehner dropped his fly ball and Buddy Rosar reached base and Chapman scored as Vern Stephens let a grounder go through him.

Mary St. Martin
Is the Bride Of
Kenneth Arbour

Gladioli of pastel shades were arranged with the lighted candles on the altars of St. Patrick's church Saturday for the wedding of Mary Elizabeth St. Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. St. Martin of 509 South 9th street, and Kenneth James Arbour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Arbour, of Bay View.

The vows were spoken before Rev. Fr. Martin B. Melican, who was celebrant of the nine o'clock nuptial high mass. St. Patrick's choir sang the music of the mass and the Offertory solo, "Ave Maria," was sung by Frank Him. The traditional bridal procession and recessional were played by the church organist.

Bride In White Satin

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore white brocaded satin, the gown made with a fitted bodice styled with a net yoke, sleeves tapering to points over the wrists and a draped skirt which formed a large bow bustle. Her veil of bride illusion was caught to a Juliet cap of white satin, and she carried a white prayer book, attached to the cover of which were three gardenias with white satin streamers.

Her sister, Helen, who was maid of honor, wore ice blue brocaded satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and full skirt, and she carried a colonial bouquet.

Clarence Arbour served as his brother's best man.

Mrs. St. Martin attended the wedding of her daughter, wearing an aqua dress with white accessories and a corsage of white flowers, and Mrs. Arbour wore a brown and gold ensemble with brown accessories and a like corsage.

A wedding breakfast for 37 guests was served at the Delta hotel, the three-tiered wedding cake the central note of the decorations in which pastel tinted flowers were effectively arranged. Gladioli were used in the decorations at the St. Martin home where a reception was held from 2 to 4 o'clock.

Guests At Wedding

The couple left on a wedding trip to an announced destination and following their return will make their home in the apartment they have taken at 321 Ludington street. The new Mrs. Arbour, a graduate of Escanaba high school, is a member of the office staff of the Birds Eye Veneer company. Mr. Arbour, who is a graduate of St. Joseph high school, is employed by the Delta Furniture company.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Vande Wiele, of Iron Mountain; Mrs. Albert Foye, of Manistique, grandmother of the bridegroom; and Robert Foye and son, Jack and Charles of Manistique.

The bridal attendants were June Sodergren, who was maid of honor, Donna Mae Gudwer and Irma Lou Reese, bridesmaids, and Carol Jean Gudwer, flower girl; Marvin Gudwer, best man, and Fred Arts, Jr., and Clayton Jarvey, Jr., who ushered.

The bride wore traditional white slipper satin with lace trim, the gown distinguished by princess lines and a full court train. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Her maid of honor wore blue, the gown made with a jersey bodice and nylon skirt over satin, and the bridesmaids wore yellow nylon gowns. The little flower girl's frock, floor length, was made of white net. The attendants all carried bouquets of mixed flowers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Trombley wore a summer suit of light green with black accessories, and Mrs. Gudwer wore a black crepe with pink trim and black and pink accessories.

A wedding breakfast was served at Bell's restaurant, and a wedding dinner and a supper for 200 guests were served at the home of the bridegroom's parents. The tiered wedding cake and flowers in the colors of the wedding, yellow, blue and white, were used in the decorations at the home.

THOMPSON FOLK
NOT DISTURBEDNo Heavy Influx Of Colored People
Anticipated

Residents of Thompson refuse to get excited over the recent sale of the J. F. Kluit property, one mile south of the village to a Negro religious group from Chicago.

Naturally interested in any new resident, several people of that community have made inquiry concerning "Father" Depaz and the religious group he heads and the reports are reassuring.

One of these residents, who asked that his name be withheld, states that he has been given assurance that there will be no mass migration of colored people from Chicago, or anywhere else, as a result of this purchase. Colored people, like White people, he said, appreciate and enjoy the beauties and the summer climate of Upper Michigan and the Kluit property was purchased to afford outing privileges to some of these people—who happen to be members of Father Depaz' religion.

This residents added that emphasis, "People in Thompson have had dealings with these people and find them courteous and respectful—far more courteous and respectful than a lot of the White tourists passing through."

The large group of people who were at the "New Heaven Sanctuary" Wednesday returned later to Chicago. Other groups, it has been learned, will come from time to time to enjoy brief outings at this farm near Lake Michigan which is, to say the least, a far cry from Chicago's black belt.

Spalding Man Is Fined Here For Bad Check Deal

E. J. Decker, of Spalding, paid a fine and costs amounting to $75 in local justice court Thursday afternoon after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of passing a check on a bank in which he had no funds and in addition made full restitution for the amount involved.

Decker was arrested several weeks ago on complaint of the Farmers Implement company of Manistique where he had given the check in payment for merchandise.

Marsupial Tiger
Taken In Victoria

Sydney, Australia, (AP)—A tiger cat has been captured alive in Victoria. Many naturalists had believed that the tiger cat, a marsupial once common in Victoria, was already extinct there. The tiger cat (Dasyurus maculatus) is still quite common in the wilder parts of the island State of Tasmania. It grows to a length of three feet from pink snout to tail tip.

The tiger cat is one of the few aggressive Australian native animals. It should not be confused with two other marsupials, the rare Tasmanian "wolf" or "Tiger" and the Tasmanian devil. Both of these are confined to Tasmania.

Bass Fishing Has Spotlight With Fishermen Here

Bass fishing is at its best in the Manistique area at present and summer guests are recording some very nice catches.

Among the nicest catches in the past week is that of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Grant, of Coral Gables, Fla., who while fishing in Dodge Lake about 12 miles north of here, landed ten beauties in less than three hours. The smallest weighed two pounds and the largest tipped the scale at six and one-half pounds.

"When I arrived here last week people told me that fishing wasn't good at this time of the year," says Mr. Grant, "but this catch is proof that they are to be had if one really goes after them."

Mrs. Evelyn Headland, of Manistique Heights, also adds that fishing is good. She caught several bass in the Indian river not far from where the bridge crosses the river at Manistique Heights. The largest bass weighed four and one-half pounds.

Lumber Camp Is Now A Modern
Summer Resort

The Hartman logging camp up near Germfask is now a summer resort.

Deep in the woods, on Highway M-98, three miles east of Germfask, this camp which only a few months ago was the habitat of mackinaw clad timber workers, is now a sylvan wonderland to people from Chicago, Detroit and St. Louis, who come to gaze at the birches, and tall pines and hemlocks and dine, lumberjack fashion, in the clean but picturesque cook shack, where pancakes in great piles are served for breakfast every morning.

The cabin camp, where the guests live, is no series of tarpaper covered bunkhouses, however. Some camp quarters still remain, but they are not in use and will soon be torn down. The new cabin camp, built on the opposite side of the lake branch of the Manistique river from the old one, is a series of white shingled buildings whose interiors are of shiny finished basswood furnished in simple home made elegance, with all modern conveniences.

The larger cabins are 20 by 30 feet in size, having two bedrooms furnished with double decked bunks and home made furniture. One of the cabins has a fire place and another now in the process of construction will also have this luxury. At present there are three large cabins and three small ones in use and three more will be ready for occupancy when the deer season opens. Though not on any lake, Manistique lake can be reached by motor boat in a few minutes.

Off The Chest ...

BY JAY ARRELL

A few weeks ago this column devoted several paragraphs in protest over the unwarranted use of profanity and obscenity on the Manistique streets. We have received thanks from many people for what we said. And while we are not so utterly optimistic as to think that it will do away with this evil, we know that our squib was productive of some results because the other night we heard one youngster berate his companion and tell him to "cut out that damn rotten talk." But our greatest source of gratification has come from a recent telephone conversation with the Rev. G. A. Herbert of the Zion Lutheran church in which he tells us that at today's morning service he is going to use some of our "Off The Chest" comments in his sermon. That, indeed, makes us feel that we're getting on in this world.

Letters Of Girl Tell Of Condition In Germany Today

Sometime in 1946 Miss Joyce Pelkey of 1203 Delta avenue sent a skirt to Europe to help with the relief situation there and it has resulted in a pleasing exchange of correspondence between Miss Pelkey and the sister of the girl who received it, Erika Skories of Beratzhausen, Oberpfalz, U. S. Z.

The first letter was dated Dec. 28, 1946 and reads: "You will wonder to get a letter from the girl you kindly sent the skirt to some months ago. My sister is only 7 years of age and can of course not write herself. So I want to thank you for her most sincerely. Till now the skirt is rather too big for her but it will not take long and it will be fitting. She is so very pleased about it."

"Being fugitives so everything is very valuable for us. I have still 3 sisters, 7, 15 and 16 years of age, also two brothers of 12 and 19 years. Myself am 18 years old. Once more best thanks. I should be very pleased to hear from you."

In response to a letter from Miss Pelkey came the following letter dated April 14:

"Some days ago I have got your letter that pleased me very much. Best thanks for it. Today is Sunday and I have time to answer. Weekdays I have not much time, therefore I take Sunday to do so. You write you had much snow, so it was with us. It was very cold and with little clothing we had to freeze. It's to be understood as we have lost much during war, even our home. We are quite homeless now and have to work for our daily bread at strangers. I am working at a butcher's who is

The third letter dated July 14th follows:

"Today it gets time to come to you for some time. I am happy to tell that I got your letter and some days later the parcel arrived. We are ever so pleased about its contents. We thank you with all our hearts for the dresses which we can use very well. Little Heiga is very pleased with her blouse and skirt, we made it fit for her. My 15-year-old sister is very pleased with her costume and thanks you so much. I myself have the pretty blue dress which I only wear on Sundays. Do take many, many thanks for all your trouble and expense. In your letter you ask me if I understand any German. My mother-tongue is German. I also understand some English words. The letter I send you I have translated, likewise your letters. So we understand each other well. I live here at Beratzhausen, a large village of about 2,000 inhabitants, with a railway station. Snaps I cannot do for you as I have no camera and now these things cannot be bought. If I can get them, I shall send you some view cards. Food is as short as dresses, especially fat, there is very little, so that it is hard to live on. In general we are well still, which we hope and wish to be the same with you all."

CITY WORKMEN ON SEWER JOBS

5 Blocks Of Pipe Being Laid By Municipal Crews

Municipal workmen are now laying sewer in Superior avenue from Fifth to Sixth street.

The new shovel obtained by the city this year is used in digging the ditch in which the pipe is laid. When actually laying pipe approximately 150 feet can be installed in a day.

Recently the city crews laid sewer in Delta avenue between Fourth and Fifth street and then went north on Fifth to Superior where they started on the present job.

When this is completed another block of sewer will be constructed in Delta avenue, Fifth to Sixth street.

The first project worked on was on North Fifteenth street between Third and Fourth avenues north. Bids were sought from private contractors on each of the projects but when none were received it was decided to go ahead with the public improvements with city workmen under the direction of City Manager H. J. Henrikson.

Leo LeGault submitted to an appendectomy yesterday at St. Francis hospital.

YANKEES BLAST TRIBE, 13 TO 6

Reynolds 1st American Hurler To Post 16th Victory

Cleveland, Aug. 23 (AP)—Allie Reynolds became the first pitcher in the American league to gain 16 victories today as the New York Yankees lashed out 17 hits to trounce the Cleveland Indians, 13-6.

Reynolds, who pitched for the Indians last year, threw in the ninth after getting two out and Joe Page came in to retire the side.

The Yanks supported Reynolds' pitching with a 17-hit attack against three Cleveland pitchers with Johnny Lindell and Tommy Henrich leading the way with three hits apiece.

After nicking Red Embree for two runs in the first, the Yanks batted around, knocking Embree out in the second inning and scoring eight times to sew up the game.

Reynolds, who has served up more home runs than any other Yankee pitcher, was socked for homers by Ed Bockman and Pat Seery, the 21st and 22nd he has allowed this season.

Dale Mitchell and Hank Edwards collected three hits apiece to lead the Tribe's 12-hit output.

BUMS BLAST REDS, 8 TO 5

May Be Costly Win; Stanky, Reese Injured

Brooklyn, Aug. 23 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers nipped the Cincinnati Reds, 8-5, today to maintain their six game lead over the St. Louis Cardinals but the victory may prove to be a costly one for the Brooks.

Ed Stanky and Pee Wee Reese, the Dodgers' star keystone combination, both suffered spike wounds during the hard fought game by hard-running base runners.

The Reds, apparently incensed by the knee injury suffered by Pitches Ewell Blackwell at the plate two days ago when he collided with Brooklyn's Pete Reiser, came at the Dodgers with spikes flying.

Stanky was spiked over the left kneecap by Tom Tatum in the first inning. Outfielder Carl Furillo also was spiked going into third but stayed in the game. Reese was gashed by Bert Haas in the ninth and limped off the field with a severe wound over his left hip.

St. Nicholas

St. Nicholas, Mich.—Mr. and Mrs. Bob Scott and children, Phyllis and Yvonne of Munising, visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miron.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Tankersley and baby, Grace Louise, left for Rome, Georgia where they will make their home.

Mrs. Agnes Peterson and daughter Eunice of Perkins spent a few days with her sister, Miss Louise Miron.

Miss Myrna Skott of Munising is spending a week's vacation as the guest of Miss Nancy Way.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rivers and children, Barbara, Ronald and Linda Lee, of Escanaba spent Sunday visiting with Miss Louise Miron, and with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miron.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Jones Jr., who visited with relatives in Ashland, Wis., for the past two weeks visited Saturday with the former's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul DeGrand, before returning to their home in Detroit. Enroute they will visit in Milwaukee and Chicago.

They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Jones Sr. and son Vincent, who visited the De-Grands for the past two weeks.

New Hybrid Onion Draws Few Tears

Davis, Calif.—Peeling onions will not be the tearful job it is now, once a new hybrid onion strain originated here by Dr. Glen N. Davis of the University of California comes into more cultivation.

Dr. Davis has eliminated a large part of the pungent, volatile compound that affects housewives' eyes even more strongly than the sobbiest scenes in "soap-opry". It is impossible to eliminate all of it, for then there would be no flavor left in the onion, he says. The new near-tearless onion has a mild, sweet flavor, and is especially good for eating raw.

There is no heavy industry in New Zealand.
